

Ioannis Antonopoulos

Ioannis Antonopoulos, PhD Mechanical Engineer from Aristotle University of Thessaloniki. International expertise in sustainable production and consumption, circular economy and project management. Long working experience in supporting green transition by providing technical expertise and scientific evidence to shape the development and implementation of the EU waste and environmental policy. Since 2013 working for the European Commission, Joint Research Centre and since 2022 at DG ENV as a policy officer dealing with the new Regulation on packaging.